FIELD SEEDS

These goods fluctuate in price so that it is impossible to make a stable figure. At intervals, prices will be sent each salesman, at which he can book orders until the next price-list is issued. Orders will be filled and billed at the proper time at the prices given to and used by the agent when the order is booked. Changes in prices after the order is booked will not affect that order. The tendency is for prices to advance toward Spring, though this is not certain.
